

Farm & Ranch MANAGEMENT

- Students get to create a business plan for their own agricultural operations in the Farm and Ranch Management program.
- The program focuses on the production of crops and livestock, as well as management and economics.
- Students are able to build strong relationships with stakeholders in agricultural businesses.
- Discover new and innovative, as well as time-proven management practices for farming and ranching in a hands-on environment.

Earn your Associate in Applied Science in Farm and Ranch Management in this 18-month program. Western Dakota Tech has the only post-secondary agriculture program in Western South Dakota.
